

Alien Abduction: Is it increasing?

By Nadine Lalich

The phenomenon of alien abduction has been a major focus in my life beginning with my first conscious experience in 1991. During that event, I was removed in a fully-awake state from my vehicle by what appeared to be non-human entities. That dramatic, unforeseen event ushered in prolific conscious experiences that have continued for nearly 30 years. To my added surprise, I would learn along the way that these contacts actually began in my childhood and they also involved other family members.

From a Personal Point of View: In reviewing nearly three decades of conscious contact, it is clear that the first ten years subsequent to the 1991 event, while I was in my late thirties and forties, the experiences were at their peak of three or more per week. That period involved a major focus on physical examinations, especially reproductive organs, and exposure to alleged hybrid children. During the following five years the reproductive procedures continued, but the contacts included more diverse psychological and emotional testing and analyzing, training with strange devices, apocalyptic predictions for the planet, and exposure to a greater variety of non-human entities. Also, during this period of time, a sudden military presence began to appear, sometimes separately and sometimes in collaboration with ET races.

By the time menopause arrived there was a complete cessation of physical examinations related to reproduction, a fact I feel is quite significant. Now the contacts lessened to three or four times per month. Those experiences included exposure to different types of crafts, more unusual ET species, underwater and underground bases, and an even greater military presence. Training and intense observation by ETs as well as military humans became more common.

The past eight years has been a much less active period of contact, sometimes with as much as six months between experiences. When they do occur, their agenda feels more urgent and appears more specifically related to instruction and training about the earth and future disasters. Furthermore, while implying there will be an open arrival of extraterrestrials, there is repeated rehearsal of an alleged role I am to play in their support.

From a General Point of View: Although I have read about other cases, I have not personally conducted an analysis related to contact patterns, and can only offer my opinion. As David Jacobs suggested, I do believe that new generations of people become abductees and older abductees may continue to experience contact throughout their entire life. Considering the familial and genetic component of abduction, fluctuating birth and death rates, and the unpredictable numbers of people willing to come forward, it would seem difficult to ascertain a true number of worldwide contacts taking place at any given time. Certainly, it is well documented that our evolution to the use of nuclear power brought us to the attention of off-world intelligences, resulting in the UFO and alien abduction phenomenon we know it today. Whatever the current figure may be, the greatest number of contacts most probably take place during the reproductive phase of an abductee's life.

As Whitley Strieber stated, I also believe abductions occur in cycles, but those cycles of interaction would be difficult to verify due to an undeterminable number of unknown factors. For example, which ET race is conducting the abduction, and what is their agenda? Who is the abductee, what is their skill set and their genetic heritage? What is the timeframe of the abduction, and are there important events taking place concurrently on earth and/or off-planet that we may or may not know of? Ultimately, regardless of the number of worldwide contacts now taking place, any intelligent, rational-minded person with even a limited knowledge of the UFO and ET abduction phenomenon would acknowledge the probability that contact has and continues to take place across the globe.
